The World Beneath was a vast network of caverns beneath the Dinotopia, the World Beneath was where the dinosaurs sought refuge long ago in order to survive the cataclysm that ended dinosaur life on the rest of the planet elsewhere. Many years later, after the techno-island-city of Posiedos was swallowed up by the sea, the survivors fled in a fleet of strutters and colonized the World Beneath, making technology-based colonies.

~~James Gurney — Books~~

This World Beneath is an explanation for Dinotopians surviving the saurian extinction; according to the story, most of the Earth's dinosaurs were destroyed, whilst a few hid in vast underground caverns. These few became the original Dinotopians. No one has entered the World Beneath for centuries, but Arthur intends to do so.

Four years after being shipwrecked on the island of Dinotopia, sixteen-year-old Will Denison, now a Skybax Corps pilot, explores the skies over the island while his scientist father explores the legendary caverns of the World Beneath.

The second book in Gurney's adventure series about the mysterious land of Dinotopia--the sequel to the book that spawned the successful ABC miniseries and TV show--is now available in paperback. Full color.

Before there was "Jurassic Park," there was a fantastical world where humans and dinosaurs lived together in peace. Revisit this magical land in "Dinotopia: Journey to Chandara." After many years of searching, artist James Gurney discovered in a used bookstore a never-before-seen journal by the nineteenth-century explorer Arthur Denison. Denison's previous travel accounts, published as "Dinotopia: A Land Apart from Time "and "Dinotopia: The World Beneath," introduced a lost island where dinosaurs and humans live together in peaceful interdependence. Now Professor Denison and his saurian companion, Bix, set out on a perilous journey to the forbidden empire of Chandara. When their personal invitation from the emperor goes missing, they are forced to cross the border penniless and in disguise. Every step of the way, Denison documents in exquisite detail and the creatures, characters, and architecture he encounters: a village composed of three ships propped by on end, a fifty-foot-tall "Brachiosaurus" outfitted for fire fighting, an "Allosaurus" tending its hatchlings, young pilots air jousting on giant pterosaurs, and much more. The land of Dinotopia is conjured by a brief but vivid narrative and a beguiling variety of visuals, including maps, cutaway views, and mechanical diagrams. The lives of the humans are intertwined with those of the dinosaurs and ancient mammals, all of which are actual species portrayed according to the latest scientific research. By turns whimsical, dramatic, and philosophical, the journal radiates a life-affirming vision that will cast a new light on the overlooked wonders of our own world.

The third book in the popular series ventures into Dinotopia's distant past, where only Gideon Altaire and his friend Fritz can stop the evil empire of Poseidos from using its robotic technology to eradicate the peaceful dinosaurs.

After being shipwrecked and saved by dolphins, Professor Denison and his son, Will, find themselves on the island of Dinotopia where dinosaurs and humans live together peacefully.

Professor Denison and Bix, his dinosaur companion, are summoned to the forbidden empire of Chandara but, having lost their invitation, must travel penniless and in disguise through spectacular sights and memorable scenes. Includes a new afterword by the author.

In 1862, after being shipwrecked in uncharted seas, Professor Arthur Denison and his twelve-year-old son Will find themselves washed up on a strange island where people and dinosaurs live together peacefully.

Loro wants to join the caravans of armored Brachiosaurs that venture into the jungles of the Rainy Basin, but not until a deadly storm sweeps over
